

Celebrating the International Day of Disabilities

A group photo for PIC representatives with Al-Rajaa elementary school for girls with special needs.

A scene from the event

As part of its social responsibility towards the local community, PIC organized an activity in cooperation with the Ministry of Education and Al-Rajaa elementary school for girls with special needs on the occasion of the International Day of Persons with Disabilities, which is celebrated in 3rd December each year. The event took place at Al-Muhallab Mall, and featured various activities and workshops that brought joy to students.

On this occasion, Acting Manager of the Communication and Services Department Mr. Dawood Al-Amiri said that PIC makes sure every year to join the local community in celebrating this international day, and that stemming from its strategy for social responsibility and sustainability.

Al- Amiri explained that PIC plays a big role in continuously supporting various social issues, especially those that take care of people with special needs who need barriers that prevent them from integrating with society to be removed. He stressed that the challenges they face do not stand in the way of their resolve, ambitions and high value to society, urging everyone to cooperate with them and improve their integration with society so that they can help achieve development and progress for Kuwait.

Al- Amiri further noted that celebrating the International Day of Persons with Disabilities, which was designated by the United Nations, is an opportunity for everyone to think about people with special needs and help them as much as they can, as well as raising awareness about their conditions since they are an inseparable part of society.